Subject: RFQ for the Supply and delivery of IT infrastructure equipment

Question:

Can we offer a smaller appliance which is adequate to your organization and your backup needs and accept solutions from vendors, that will be equal or better in terms of features and performance?

As per technical specification our solution fully complies regarding performance and capacity with but is not fully compliant with the scalable capacity which is mentioned in the RFQ as per below:

Answer:

The required specifications are designed for a mid-range enterprise solution and various vendors in the market offer compliant solutions. The requested performance is required to minimize downtime in case of a full restore for the allocated storage. The scaling capability is required to provide flexibility to the end beneficiary to implement elastic continuous backing up of their infrastructure.

The specs are based on beneficiary actual and future needs and compliant with rules and regulations. As well the specs do not limit the competitiveness. There are several vendors and brands that are compliant with the solution requested, and in the request is not any specific complain about the inability to fulfill the requirements.
